

I do not think a special against any candidate is a good idea. We need more positives in this election, not more negative campaigning.